

Calling all Geographers...

Physical geography is wonderful, inspiring, spectacular, astonishing, extraordinary – or any combination of these!!

This term we are inviting all our children to enter our photo competition. The competition is about highlighting how wonderful Geography is. It can be on a small-scale feature or on something larger that captures a process. It might also be taken in our village, locally or somewhere further afield.

To enter, your child should take a photo that shows how physical geography is wonderful, give its location and write up to 50 words to accompany the picture. This should describe what physical geography the photo shows, explaining how and why it is wonderful and using geographical language to help create a description.
